

Johnny Mosquito

MANICA K. MUSIL

WILLY, WILL YOU HELP ME
FIND MYSELF
A GIRL MOSQUITO?

A GIRL MOSQUITO?
WHY?

Johnny Mosquito was lazing about by the pond. As he soaked his feet in the murky water,
he smoothed out his antennae and buzzed,
'How beautiful I am!' He yanked his cooled legs out of the water, stretched, then buzzed off on his morning rounds.

WHAT A SELF-CENTERED
LITTLE BUG!

HE'S HALF BLIND WITH SELF-LOVE!

I WANT TO FALL IN LOVE!

MYSELF, I'D LIKE TO MEET A BOY DUCK!

AH, LOVE BRINGS YOU NOTHING BUT TROUBLE!

First he stopped by the duck's.

'Today you're even more handsome than yesterday,' said the duck.

'Have you found yourself
a girl mosquito?'

I HAVEN'T EATEN
FOR THREE DAYS!

'Wouldn't you like to fly a little closer?' he croaked. 'Froggy,
I know what you're up to. You can't fool me!' buzzed Johnny Mosquito.
'Any chance you've spied
a girl mosquito today?'
'Yes, I have!' said
Froggy.

I'M GOING TO CRUSH ALL YOUR LITTLE BONES!

LEAVE MY FRIEND ALONE!

I'M GOING TO STING YOUR TONGUE!

MY TUMMY'S STILL RUMBLING.

YUM. DELICIOUS
BLOOY!

IS THERE A PIN
HIDDEN IN MY DRESS
SOMEWHERE?

I'M THE BRAVEST MOSQUITO
IN THE WORLD!

YOUR EYES ARE LIKE THE SWEETEST OF POLLEN-FILLED FLOWERS.

'Oh, you're so foolish!' burst out Johnny, surprised. But he couldn't stop himself from chasing after the girl mosquito. She had already stuck her stinger in. The girl twitched.

Johnny Mosquito was amazed. 'Just what is that girl mosquito up to?'
he wondered.

WILL I FINALLY GET TO EAT SOMETHING OTHER THAN FISH?

WHAT ARE YOU GOING ON ABOUT?

SWIM! A CRAB IS COMING!
